

Montagu and Astorg welcome LGT Capital Partners as minority shareholder in Nemera

London, 13 August 2025 – Montagu, a leading mid-market private equity firm, and Astorg, a leading pan-European private equity firm, welcome LGT Capital Partners (“LGT CP”) as a new minority shareholder in Nemera (“the Company”), a leading global manufacturer of drug delivery devices. Montagu and Astorg will remain together majority shareholders and will continue to support Nemera’s next phase of growth alongside LGT CP.

Nemera designs, develops, and manufactures a full range of complex drug delivery devices including auto-injectors, pens, inhalers, preservative-free multi-dose eye droppers and pumps from seven state-of-the-art manufacturing sites in France, the US, Germany, Poland and Brazil. The Company serves a global base of pharmaceutical, biotech, and generics customers, providing end-to-end solutions from early-stage design to large-scale manufacturing, across both proprietary devices and contract manufacturing. Its patient-focused approach and breadth of expertise enable Nemera to deliver innovative, reliable, and safe devices that improve treatment outcomes and patient experience.

With the support of Montagu and Astorg, Nemera has grown in both scale and strategic value over the past six years. With continued support from its existing shareholders and the addition of LGT CP, Nemera is well positioned to accelerate its growth trajectory. The Company will continue to invest in innovation, operational excellence, and capacity expansion to meet growing demand across all therapeutic areas. Strategic priorities include strengthening its proprietary product portfolio, expanding global manufacturing capabilities, and further developing its service offerings.

Heloise Pujolle, Partner at Montagu, said: "We are delighted to welcome LGT CP as a shareholder in Nemera. Since our re-investment in 2019, Nemera has delivered strong growth, broadened its global footprint, and reinforced its market leadership. This transaction demonstrates our continued confidence in the Company’s strategy and management team, and we look forward to partnering with LGT CP, alongside Astorg, to support Nemera in its next phase of development."

Nicolas Marien, Partner at Astorg, said: "Over the course of our partnership, Nemera has grown significantly, expanded its customer base and strengthened its position in the most attractive drug delivery segments, supported by a stronger innovation pipeline and a truly global footprint. We’re proud of what we’ve achieved with Nemera’s management team and Montagu, and look forward to partnering with LGT CP to further accelerate growth and create lasting value."

Andreas Hellmann, Partner at LGT Capital Partners, said: "We are pleased to join Nemera as a minority investor at an important stage in its growth journey. Having followed the Company over a number of years, we appreciate its effective leadership, commitment to innovation, and focus on improving patients’ lives – qualities that position Nemera as a leader in the drug delivery space. We look forward to supporting the management team and existing shareholders, Montagu and Astorg, as the Company continues to scale globally and provide advanced solutions to its partners and patients worldwide."

Astorg and Montagu were advised by Morgan Stanley (Financial advisors), and Weil Gotshal & Manges (Legal advisor)
